Re: David Weinstein/Request for a permanent medical excuse

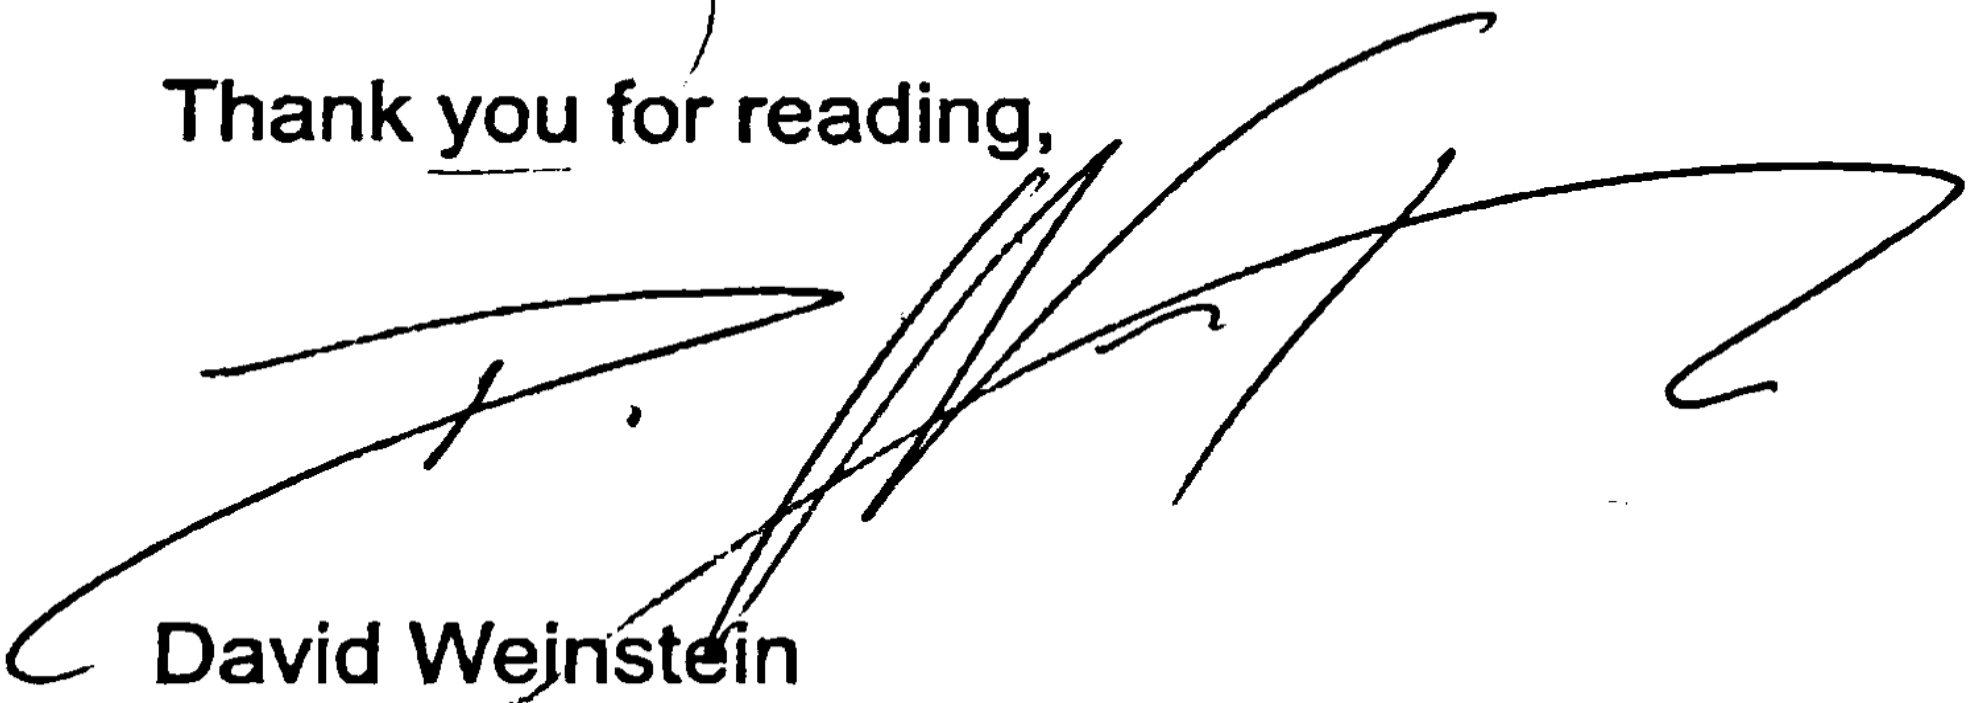

To whom it concerns.

I have suffered from severe hearing loss since birth, making it extremely difficult and in many situations impossible to understand and interpret speech even with the most advanced hearing aids on the market.

I have 80% hearing loss in both ears, which falls in the "profound loss" category diagnosed by professional hearing specialists. Furthermore, I have spoken to my doctor about this, and he feels that I am not an ideal candidate for jury duty where vital information could and most likely will be missed or misinterpreted.

I have attached, with this personal note, a formal professional letter from my doctor who elaborates on the type of hearing loss I suffer from and the ramifications due to it. If anything further is needed for my permanent excuse, please contact me.

Re: David Weinstein/Request to pardon Jury Duty

To whom it concerns,

My patient, David Weinstein, recently completed a comprehensive audiometric examination for hearing loss. Mr. Weinstein has suffered hearing loss since youth and has worn hearing devices for the majority of his life. He currently complains of hearing people speak although cannot understand what they are saying. He misinterprets speech in all environments and greatly struggles with speech in noisy rooms.

David's examination results revealed a binaural moderate to profound symmetric steep falling high frequency sensorineural hearing loss. Otoscopy appeared clear and normal in both ear canals. Speech discrimination scores were low to average at most comfortable listening levels.

Even with the highest quality hearing aid technology adjusted comfortably for this level of loss, Mr. Weinstein may still misinterpret speech in several environments.

In conclusion, this type of hearing loss requires ongoing attention and does not make Mr. Weinstein a good candidate for jury duty at any level.

Should the State of California Jury Board Committee require further information to support this message, please contact my office to coordinate and thank you for your consideration.
